Message from the Executive Director and Board Chair

making a difference, one woman at a time

Our organization was created in response to a horrific incidence of violence against a woman and her daughter in our community. A small group of women came together and chose to take that incident as a ‘wake-up call’ for action. On a volunteer and informal basis, this group of women set up and operated the transition house and crisis line for several years until ongoing operational funding was established in 1998.

It is through the skill, dedication and unwavering commitment of staff, board members and volunteers, that Island Women Against Violence has successfully expanded its services and been able to achieve its mission each year in helping women and their children throughout the Southern Gulf Islands whose lives have been affected by poverty, violence and abuse. • In 1997, we opened the ‘Transitions’ Thrift store, our social enterprise that helps raise funds for the organization. • In 2007, IWAV was successful in a tender to operate the Stopping the Violence Service programs; Stopping the Violence Counselling for women, the Children Who Witness Abuse program and Women’s Outreach services. • In 2012, in a partnership with another society, IWAV purchased an existing home on a three-acre property to provide second stage transitional housing and support for women and their children, and permanent housing for low-income senior women. • In 2015, IWAV was approached to take over management and operations of Croftonbrook housing for seniors, a 20 unit affordable housing project for low income seniors and people with disabilities who are able to live independently.

For the future…
• First stage of the Croftonbrook housing expansion initiated
• IWAV Strategic planning process for 2018-2021
• Fundraiser event – Fall 2017 – ‘$10,000 for Change’
• Communication Plan implementation continues
